New Memories in a Familiar Place

For a weekly fee, your caregiver is on duty for 30 hours across 6 days each week. They provide one-on-one support to help with your daily routine.

In addition to private pay options, live-in care may be covered in full or in part through long-term care insurance. For those who qualify, Medicaid waiver programs may also help offset the cost. Talk to your Care Advisor to explore your options.

Different from 24-hour care

With 24-hour care, a team of caregivers provide support for 24 hours a day in shifts (usually 3 shifts a day of 8 hours each). Your caregivers will go home at the end of their shift.

With live-in care, your caregiver lives with you and supports you as needed throughout the day. They are on-call to provide care whenever you need it.
